Character Builders

Would you like to commit to being a "Character Builder"? Be one of the first to endorse building good character, one quality at a time, into our community. It starts by building it in our own lives and then within the group we are part of, whether that be family, business/organization, government, education, faith community, or sports organization.

You can sign up as an individual or as an organization, or both.

Individual

An individual "Character Builder" will do the following:

- Read and study how to develop good character.
- Learn about the character quality each month, with its definition and applications ("I Will" statements).
- See this website and other resources for additional study on each character quality.
- Help create a "culture" of character by discussing it, promoting it where I can, and praising others for it.
- Present the character quality to the family.
- Develop an award system for character in the family.

Organization

An "Character Builder" organization will do the following:

- Present the monthly character quality at monthly or weekly meetings to employees or members.
- Create a climate of character by displaying posters, bulletin announcements, role models, etc.
- Reward and discipline by the standards of good character.

Yes, I would like to endorse good character and commit to being a "Character Builder" as described above. Please sign me up--
